Silver Jubilee logo

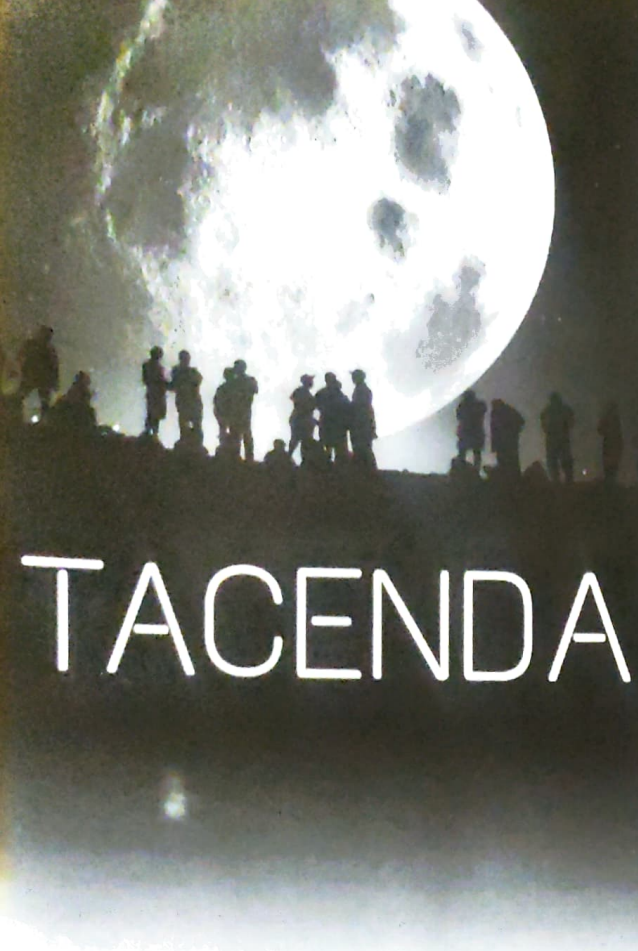

argentum

Twenty five long years of hardwork, service, dedication and commitment of Maratha Mandal's Nathajirao G. Halgekar Institute of Dental Sciences & Research Centre, Belagavi has been well represented in the title of our college souvenir/magazine named "ARGENTUM" which means 'Silver' in Latin.

In the light of a year-long Silver Jubilee Celebration, we have come up with a very special logo which sheds light onto the milestones achieved throughout the years.

As illustrated in the logo, the laurel wreath made up of interlocking olive branches which surrounds the diamond shaped tooth symbolizes victory and achievement as it was believed in Ancient Greece. The prismatic blue coloured diamond shaped tooth in the centre is yet another powerful symbol portraying that just as a diamond- being a piece of charcoal that does exceptionally well under stress, so has our Dental College, through all the turmoil and hardships, has managed to shine bright and rise above it all. The number '25' engraved in red above the symbolic tooth and wreath marks the completion of twenty five glorious years of our Institution. Lastly, the red ribbon below all of this holds the initials of our prestigious college named Maratha Mandal's Nathajirao G. Halgekar Institute of Dental Sciences & Research Centre.

In honour of our College, we have introduced a souvenir cum magazine "ARGENTUM 2017". So go ahead, flip through the pages and indulge with delight!

TACENDA

A loud rancor through these words,
Wants to get expressed.
But I'll try to keep it hushed and Whispered.

Nucleus of carefully guarded repugnance,
In an atom of perfectly illusioned indulgence.
Maul throws in as a catalyst.
Electrons propel to a vicious chain reaction.
But I'll try to anabolise the vehemence,
Because inflammables come with a caution.

Predicting my uncompleted sentences,
Judging my unpunctuated silences,
Gave away unfair, unjust conclusions.
But I'll keep my vowels swollen and Consonants bitten.

There is this wolf, claiming to be vegan,
People praising his sainthood.
Soon after his discourse session,
He sits in his basement, rolling up his grass.
"Surely vegan I am" he thought,
Smirking on all the applause under his pot.

Now even if his smoke shows up,
Those shall be regarded as clouds from his chimney.
Because the amalgam of prenotions and misconception
Are deeply filled, condensed and burnished.
In their gyri and sulci perfectly.
But I won't pull back the curtain
Because reality is uncertain.
People choose to believe what seems likely
Without even considering a probability.

I'm tired now.
My jigsaw has rugged edges
Trying to fit in.
I give in.
I wanted to crumble up in a hole,
But realised that I'm already anchored
In swamp, I choke.

Having said all that now,
Yet tacenda remains my heart's content.

SAY HI TO FUTURISTIC DENTISTRY

You might find it surprising to see the beginning of my article start with a greeting to Dentistry. The reason being that we have the technology is amongst us right now but we are so used to the primitive methods taught to us, that we are slow to implement the new technology that is being introduced. Let me give you a brief insight of what could be the difference if we adapt to the new changes. X-rays would no longer be the primary diagnostic aid in dentistry. Painless, painless anesthesia can be used for every surgical procedure. There will no longer be a need of long impressions or making diagnostic casts for fabricating prosthesis, orthodontic treatments will show results 50% faster compared to before. I say this based on the following :-

Ultrasonic Rays

- The mouthpiece scans the teeth with ultrasound sensors. It's similar to technology doctors use to see an unborn baby.
- It provides 3D model of the hard and soft structures present in the oral cavity which can be studied with that aid of the software provided, which shows all the minor structures and defects and can detect cracks and fractures, detect caries, and measure periodontal pockets etc
- This does not expose the patient as well as the dentist to harmful ionising radiations which is the leading advantage of the technology.

Painless Computerised Anesthesia

COMPUTER-REGULATED FLOW

Controls flow rate and pressure of the anesthesia during the injection.

3 speeds – tailored flow rate for each injection type.

DYNAMIC PRESSURE SENSING – DPS® - Senses the right amount of pressure of the flow of local anesthesia required to inject a painless anesthesia.

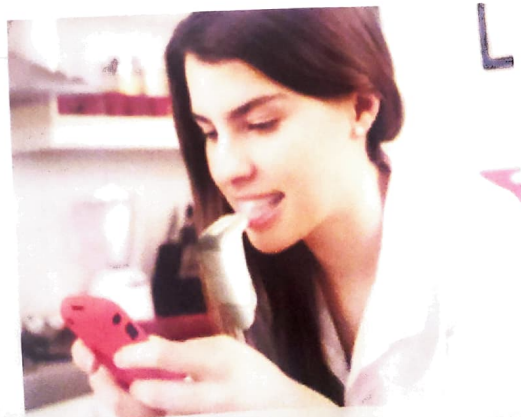

Auto-Aspirate - Accurate aspiration at the exact location of the needle. No retracting motion, like the syringe.

Audible feedback to assist the clinician during injecting.

Accelerated Orthodontics

Part of the way that orthodontics works is by changing or remodeling the bones surrounding your teeth. As this remodeling process is accelerated, your teeth move more quickly. That's where this technology comes in. By using tiny vibrations, or micropulses, it is designed to speed up bone remodeling, accelerating tooth movement. By inserting the mouthpiece fitted around your existing orthodontics and wearing the activator for 20 minutes everyday, it can speed up tooth movement and decrease the duration of your orthodontic treatment by 50% as compared to the primitive methods and may help to make your orthodontics more comfortable.
